

The centre has limited car parking, which is not generally available to centre users and visitors. This is in order to keep space for disabled visitors and volunteer staff, however we will always endeavour to make parking available for meeting organizers.

The barrier at the car-park entrance is controlled by the volunteer on duty. Please press the call button at the barrier entryphone and wait for a response.

Council-run car parks are situated in Bell Street, Bancroft Road and Nutley Lane, all within a few minutes walk of the centre. They are normally free after 6pm on weekdays. Visitors may also use Morrison's supermarket parking free of charge for short periods, however please check the conditions carefully to avoid a fine. For cars entering before 7pm, parking is generally limited to 2 hours (enforced by entry/exit cameras) but is unrestricted if arriving after this time.

If you are hiring a room and need to load/unload equipment, please mention this when booking. Space will then be made available.

Covered cycle storage with locking positions is available, at the rear of the centre.
